

The Community Corrections Collaborative Network (CCCN) is a collaborative network of the leading professional associations in the field that have come together to develop and work on the emerging issues facing the field. CCCN is working together on:

- Communicating a shared message: CCCN is working to develop a common message on the importance of community corrections to federal, state, and local policymakers and to the public;
- Representing the field: CCCN is working to inform the development of community corrections proposals and policy at the federal, state, and local levels;
- Prioritizing research and evaluation: CCCN is working to prioritize research areas emerging from international and national operational experience that promote evidence-based practices and enhance the effectiveness of community corrections;
- Enhancing professionalism and sustainability in the field: CCCN is working to develop the efficiency and sustainability of community corrections-related professional associations.

CCCN comprises the leading associations that represent probation, parole, pretrial, and treatment professionals around the country.
